Constructor Group and Automation Integrators: the stand which offers more than just blah blah blah!

A visit to an exhibition stand usually means listening to eager salespeople telling you about their products. But for ProMAT 2017, we've done things a little different. Instead of telling you how good our products are, you can have a go yourself to see just how good automation is.

Constructor Group will be showcasing their ground-breaking automated storage solutions on the Automated Integrators stand at ProMAT 2017.

Not only will visitors be able to see close up the innovative Automated Tornado Lift Machine and Paternoster Vertical Carousel that have revolutionized automated picking, they'll also be able to try it for themselves in this show special.

The machines will be filled with thousands of pieces of plastic parts during the exhibition which when put together make a toy car. Visitors will be able to operate the machines to pick the individual parts they need to build their own mini set of wheels, which they can then take home with them.

"Seeing an automated storage machine in action is mind-blowing because of the speed and accuracy when picking even the smallest parts. Both the Paternoster and the Tornado offer incredible returns on investment as they can improve picking rates by up to 65% whilst saving up to 75% on floor space. Visitors will be able to see for themselves just how effective automatic storage retrieval is, try it out and discuss their own requirements with industry experts," said Peter Blangiardi, VP Business Development & Sales, Automation Integrators.
